Definitions

Term	Definition
Investor's investment objective
Capital Growth	The investor seeks to invest in an investment option designed to generate capital return. The investor prefers exposure to growth assets (such as shares or property) or otherwise seeks an investment return above the current inflation rate.
Capital Preservation	The investor seeks to invest in an investment option to reduce volatility and minimise loss in a market down-turn. The investor prefers exposure to defensive assets (such as cash or fixed income securities) that are generally lower in risk and less volatile than growth investments.
Income Generation	The investor seeks to invest in an investment option designed to distribute regular and/or tax-effective income. The investor prefers exposure to income-generating assets (typically, high dividend-yielding equities, fixed income securities and money market instruments).
Investor's intended product use (% of Investable Assets)
Solution/Standalone (75-100%)	The investor intends to hold the investment as either a part or the majority (up to 100%) of their total investable assets (see definition below). The investor typically prefers exposure to a product with at least High portfolio diversification (see definitions below).
Core Component (25-75%)	The investor intends to hold the investment as a major component, up to 75%, of their total investable assets (see definition below). The investor typically prefers exposure to a product with at least Medium portfolio diversification (see definitions below).
Satellite (<25%)	The investor intends to hold the investment as a smaller part of their total portfolio, as an indication it would be suitable for up to 25% of the total investable assets (see definition below). The investor is likely to be comfortable with exposure to a product with Low portfolio diversification (see definitions below).
Investable Assets	Those assets that the investor has available for investment, excluding the residential home.
Portfolio diversification (for completing the key product attribute section of investor's intended product use)
Low	Single asset class, single country, low or moderate holdings of securities - e.g. high conviction Aussie equities.
Medium	1-2 asset classes, single country, broad exposure within asset class, e.g. Aussie equities "All Ords".
High	Highly diversified across either asset classes, countries or investment managers, e.g. Australian multi-manager balanced fund or global multi-asset product (or global equities).
Investor's intended investment timeframe
Short (≤ 2 years)	The investor has a short investment timeframe and may wish to hold investments for two years or less.
Medium (≤ 8 years)	The investor has a medium investment timeframe and may wish to hold investments for eight years or less.
Long (> 8 years)	The investor has a long investment timeframe and may wish to hold investments for eight years or longer.
Investor's Risk (ability to bear loss) and Return profile
Low	The investor is conservative or low risk in nature, seeks to minimise potential losses (e.g. has the ability to bear negative annual returns of 0.5 to less than 1 year over a 20 year period) and are comfortable with a low target return profile. Investor typically prefer defensive assets such as cash and fixed income.
Medium	The investor is moderate or medium risk in nature, seeking to minimise potential losses (e.g. has the ability to bear negative annual returns of 2 to less than 3 years over a 20 year period) and comfortable with a moderate target return profile. Investor typically prefers a balance of growth assets such as shares, property and alternative assets and defensive assets such as cash and fixed income.
High	The investor is higher risk in nature and can accept higher potential losses (e.g. has the ability to bear negative annual returns of 4 to less than 6 years over a 20 year period) in order to target a higher target return profile. Investor typically prefers predominantly growth assets such as shares, property and alternative assets with only a smaller or moderate holding in defensive assets such as cash and fixed income.
Very high	The investor has a more aggressive or very high risk appetite, seeks to maximise returns and can accept higher potential losses (e.g. have the ability to bear negative annual returns of 6 or greater years over a 20 year period) and possibly other risk factors, such as leverage. Investor typically prefers growth assets such as shares, property and alternative assets.

Consistency between target market and the product

The Australian Practical Investor Service is likely to be consistent with the likely objectives, financial situation and needs of the class of investors in the target market because:

- the investor is exercising choice in relation to investment options which meet their needs,
- the investors (who have not received any personal advice) will be answer a number of questions in the application form for the Australian Practical Investor Service and their responses will result in a predetermined investment menu to ensure available investment options are appropriate for their investment needs,
- the investor is using the Investor Service to access investments that involve risk and have the potential for capital loss, and
- the investor is able to invest directly or via a financial adviser.

3. How this product is to be distributed

Distribution channels

The Australian Practical Investor Service been designed to be distributed:

- Through a financial adviser registered with OneVue Wealth, and
- Through direct investment by investors.

Distribution conditions

The Australian Practical Investor Service should only be distributed under the following circumstances:

- the financial adviser of the investor must be registered with OneVue Wealth.
- If the investor is above the age of 18 and an Australian resident, and
- If the investor has at least $2,500 to open a cash hub account in Australian Practical Investor Service.

Adequacy of distribution conditions and restrictions

- The Australian Practical Investor Service can be distributed to Investors as part of personal advice recommendations.
- If an investor is investing in the Australian Practical Investor Service through a financial adviser, their financial adviser must be registered with OneVue Wealth and appointed as their nominated representative to operate their Australian Practical Investor Service account on their behalf.
- For investors investing directly without an adviser, a number of questions are asked in the application form to sign up to Australian Practical Investor Service. These questions seek to ensure that the distribution conditions are met, therefore making it likely that investors who invest in the underlying investment options of the product are in the class of investors for which they have been designed for.

This is based on an assessment of the distribution conditions and restrictions and that they are appropriate and will assist distribution in being directed towards the target market for whom the product has been designed.
