Consumer attribute definitions

Consumers should refer to the 'TMD definitions' available at macquarie.com/mam/tmd for the definitions of the consumer attributes (that is, the terms used in the 'Consumer attributes' column in the table below).

Appropriateness

The issuer has assessed the Fund and formed the view that the Fund is likely to be consistent with the likely objectives, financial situation and needs of consumers in the target market as described below. The attributes of the Fund in the 'Description of Fund including key attributes' column of the table below are consistent with the corresponding consumer attributes identified with a green rating (in the 'TMD indicator for Fund' column).

Investment products and diversification

A consumer (or class of consumer) may intend to hold a product as part of a diversified portfolio (for example, with an intended product use of minor allocation). In such circumstances, the product should be assessed against the consumer's attributes for the relevant portion of the portfolio, rather than the consumer's portfolio as a whole. For example, a consumer may wish to construct a balanced or moderate diversified portfolio with a minor allocation to growth assets. In this case, a product with a high risk/return profile may be consistent with the consumer's objectives for that minor allocation, notwithstanding that the risk/return profile of the consumer, as a whole, is medium. In making this assessment, distributors should consider all features of a product (including its key attributes). Please note that the 'Consumer's intended Fund use', which sets out the percentage of investable assets, is based on all of the assets that the consumer has available for investment (excluding the family home) and not, for example, only the relevant portion of assets the consumer is currently intending to invest.

DESCRIPTION OF TARGET MARKET OF FUND
Consumer attributes Please refer to macquarie.com/mam/tmd for definitions.	TMD indicator for Fund	Description of Fund including key attributes
Consumer's investment objective
Capital growth	Not in target market	The Fund aims to generate attractive returns by dynamically investing in global fixed income instruments. It aims to provide diversification against equity risk as well as capital growth and some income. The Fund provides exposure to an actively managed, benchmark unaware and diversified portfolio of fixed income investments such as sovereign bonds and investment grade credit. The Fund may also provide exposure to other fixed income sectors such as high yield and emerging markets debt when these are expected to outperform. The Fund has the following key attributes: Provides exposure to a diversified portfolio of fixed interest and credit-based investments with a potential for some capital growth.
Capital preservation	In target market	- Potential to deliver returns across market cycles by employing a dynamic approach which actively identifies outperforming fixed interest and credit sectors. - Defensive yet flexible strategy with a focus on capital preservation. - Diversification against equity risk. Investing in the Fund can help balance the risk of investing in equities, providing valuable diversification benefits during equity market downturns. This is because bonds have historically had low to negative correlation to equities.
Income distribution	In target market	- Potential for capital preservation through exposure to a diversified portfolio of fixed interest and credit-based investments. However, there is no guarantee that the Fund will be able to preserve capital in the future and the level of any capital preservation may vary materially, particularly for a consumer with a shorter investment timeframe than what the Fund has been designed for. The Fund has exposure to interest rate risk, which may negatively impact consumers' capital from time to time. - Although the Fund will generally seek to distribute any net income a quarterly basis, consumers should be aware that the amount of each distribution may vary or no distribution may be payable in a distribution period.
